

Dear Customer

Reiloy is a global leader in highly wear-resistant screws and barrels for extrusion and injection moulding.

* To achieve highest quality for screws and barrels, Reiloy develops and improves its own hard-facing alloys and technologies: for maximum protection against abrasion, adhesion, and corrosion.

* Reiloy's outstanding production capacity, in particular for bimetal barrel blanks, guarantee high flexibility and quick delivery.

* You benefit from our process reliability gained in decades of experience: Bimetal barrel blanks from Reiloy can be finished with high efficiency without further straightening.

* In the course of our engineering consulting, we advise you comprehensively on the design and dimensioning of plastification units as well as on material selection.

Welcome to Reiloy. The Quality Company.
